

Castrol GTX. Race bred for a new breed.

The Stag.

A new breed of car from Triumph.

Not surprisingly, Triumph recommend the motor oil that's race-bred.

Because when you've built a car with the quality of the Stag, with an engine as refined as its new V8, you want to be sure that it stays that way.

So you get the sort of protection that's been developed after years of success in races and rallies. Castrol GTX.
